

Mobile Learning Resources

Intel® Teach Elements: Moving into Mobile Learning

Explore on Your Own

This list of curated resources provide a thoughtful selection of current mobile learning resources that will help you consider and plan a mobile learning program that meets your students' unique needs.

Edutopia's Mobile Learning Resource Round-up \(The George Lucas Educational Foundation\)*

A site for resources, research, and articles regarding different elements of a mobile learning environment, such as the role of cell phones in the classroom or the existence of the digital divide or "app gap" between students.

Partnership for 21st Century Skills \(P21\): Tools and Resources*

As part of their ongoing promotion of 21st century skills (in this case, the four "Cs," i.e., critical thinking, communication, collaboration, and creativity), P21 created a list of relevant tools, including a list of example videos of classrooms.

Special Interest Group for Mobile Learning \(SIGML\) \(International Society for Technology in Education \(ISTE\)\)*

This wiki comprises research, white papers, professional development, and webinars concerning the growth of mobile learning worldwide and its integration into instruction. The site also includes databases of mobile-friendly websites and useful apps.

Mobile Learning infoKit \(JISC infoNET via JISC Advance, hosted by Northumbria University\)*

A wiki, part of the JISC infoNet and hosted by the Northumbria University, discusses strategies for planning and implementing a successful mobile learning program. The wiki also includes snapshots of mobile learning programs and links to further case studies.

MoLeaP, the Mobile Learning Project Database \(London Mobile Learning Group\)*

A database that currently contains 12 resources and projects related to mobile learning. The projects either link to a fuller report or include an analysis on the site regarding how the mobile learning was implemented and what was learned from the process. Many of the entries include short bibliographies for further research.

The London Mobile Learning Group Literature Database*

This database includes 391 publications up to the year 2010 regarding mobile learning. The resources are separated by topic and sub-topic for easy navigation.

Mobile Learning Handbook \(Advanced Distributed Learning \(ADL\) Initiative, sponsored by the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness \(OUSD P&R\)\)*

This guidebook provides an overview for mobile learning, a list of questions to consider while planning a program, an in-depth section on designing a program, and a list of examples and further resources. This site is not specific to educational contexts.

Mobile Learning Portal \(The College of Education, University of Texas at Austin\)*

This portal includes links to articles, books, journals, white papers, and conferences that discuss mobile learning research and its role in instruction.

Joan Ganz Cooney Center Publications*

The Joan Ganz Cooney Center conducts research on the role of media and technology in educating