

Computer Topics:

1. Insert your DOS disk into the A drive and turn your computer on. As your computer starts to load, you will be asked to enter the time and date followed by the A> prompt. Now you are ready to load a new program.
2. Read all directions on the label of your program disk. If the program you're using has a manual, print it now. Type manual at the A> followed by pressing the enter key.
3. Important: Always make a backup copy of the program disk before using it. You may do this by using the DOS diskcopy command or the copy command. Example: A>diskcopy a: b: followed by pressing the enter key.
4. Programs with extensions of "COM" or "EXE" are ready to be executed and are loaded by simply typing the file name in at the prompt. Example: The program PACMAN.EXE is entered by typing PACMAN at the A> and pressing ENTER.

America's Cup

Loading instructions:

To load America's Cup, insert the America's Cup program disk into your A drive. Type AMCUP at the A> prompt followed by pressing the ENTER key.

Example: A>AMCUP <enter>.

If you have problems getting to the A>, see the reverse side of this form for instructions.

Operating Instructions:

The first question "Do you want to seed the random number generator to run a particular race?" may be answered Y or N respectively. You may view the instructions on the screen by typing Y. To print the instructions, use the print screen key (prtscrn) on your keyboard. To do this, hold down either shift key and press the prtscrn key (on 83 key keyboards) and on 101 key keyboards, simply press the prtscrn key. This will print what you are viewing on the screen at that moment. Repeat the print screen procedure for other instruction screens.

To Exit to DOS you must finish the race.
